

Glenn May

Name	Glenn May
Professional Occupation	Professor of History
Institution	University of Oregon
Website	http://history.uoregon.edu/faculty/profiles/index.php?name=gmay
Short Description	Glenn May is professor of history at the University of Oregon specializing in Southeast Asian history, history of U.S. foreign relations, and Chicano history. His online available curriculum vitae does not mention his tobacco-related litigation work. In a deposition taking for Williams v. Philip Morris , a case from 1999, May acknowledged that he made $120 an hour. He worked 70 hours a month on his litigation-driven work. Upon questioning by plaintiff's counsel, May stated that he had not made in excess of $80,000 a year on any other project before in his career. <sup>1</sup>
Education	Ph.D.
Major Fields	Southeast Asian History U.S. foreign relations Chicano history (focus Philippines)
Major Publications	Inventing a Hero: The Posthumous Re-Creation of Andres Bonifacio (1996), Battle for Batangas: A Philippine Province at War (1991), A Past Recovered: Essays on Philippine History and Historiography (1987)
Number of Cases	3

Case <sup>2</sup>	Year	Manner of Involvement
1. Branch v. Philip Morris	1999	Testimony
2. Schwarz v. Philip Morris	1999-2002	Testimony
3. Williams v. Phillip Morris	1999	Deposition

<sup>1</sup> See testimony of Glenn May, March 12, 1999, Williams v. Philip Morris. Westlaw reference: 1999 WL 34874961.

<sup>2</sup> Information on the cases is based on Proctor, Robert. 2012. Golden Holocaust: Origins of the Cigarette Catastrophe and the Case for Abolition. Berkeley: University of California Press, 462. & The following online databases: <http://legacy.library.ucsf.edu>. <http://tobaccodocuments.org>. <http://lawschool.courtroomview.com/experts>. & Westlaw.