Short Description	Robert Norrell is a professor of history at the University of Tennessee. He has lectured in several American and European universities. In addition, he has published prize-winning books on the racial history of the American South.
	Norrell has been an expert witness for the defence in 28 tobacco related court cases, especially in Engle Progeny cases. In a deposition taken in Karney v. Brown and Williamson in 1998 Norrell declared that he charged $100 an hour for his litigation-driven work. ¹ Two years later that rate was still the same, ² but by 2010 Norrell's hourly rate had changed to $225, ³ and two years later to $250. ⁴ Norrell acknowledged in testimony given in Engle Progeny that he has charged tobacco companies for one million dollars, or $55,000 yearly during the period 1994-2012. ⁵

⁶ Information on the cases is based on Proctor, Robert. 2012. Golden Holocaust: Origins of the Cigarette Catastrophe and the Case for Abolition. Berkeley: University of California Press, 462. & The following online databases: <http://legacy.library.ucsf.edu>, <http://tobaccodocuments.org>, <http://lawschool.courtroomview.com/experts>, & Westlaw. In Engle Progeny Cases many depositions and testimonies are reused in other cases instead of solely in the case where the actual testimony was given for the first time. I list these cases separately because in each one the deposition or testimony was submitted as important evidence and thereby it influenced the court and the jury.
